PARKWAY INDUSTRIAL

The Manufacturing Division of Bradford Area High School

Here at Parkway Industrial, we love machining parts. If you're looking for a company to machine your components because you don't have the equipment to do it yourself, we can do that for you – without your company having to make large investments in design software, machinery, or labor. If you are just looking to outsource some smaller jobs because you choose to focus your machining and talent on other parts of your overall production, we are happy to take those jobs on for you. Either way, we strive to provide all of our customers with high quality cost-effective components delivered on time.

Core Competencies

- Precision CNC milling of metals and hard plastics with two Haas mills and several lathes
- Mills handle sizes up to 12x16x8 inches
- Capable of holding tolerances to +/- 0.005
- Design and drafting services
- Reverse-engineering from existing parts
- Inventor and MasterCam software
- Zeiss CMM provides precision measurements for quality control

Differentiators

- Specializing in small to medium-sized orders (but capable of handling just about anything)
- Cost-effective machining solutions for your business
- We are a student-run company – the future of manufacturing in our region

Past Performance

We are a young enterprise, but we have produced parts for several area companies, including American Refining Group, Zippo Manufacturing, and Close Racing Supply.

Founded in 2022, Parkway Industrial started as little more than an idea and some high school machine shop equipment. Since that time, this student-run program has been growing and providing local manufacturers with design and machine shop services. We strive to provide value to our customers' business operations by providing parts and services with a focus on cost-effective high quality manufacturing. We have produced parts for companies with as few as eight full time employees – all the way up to our largest business customer with more than 500 employees. We are passionate about what we do, and we are ready to help your company with its design and machining needs.
